

A community-style kids camp poster was designed to attract the attention of parents. We posted them in community centres, in shopping malls, bus stops and other locations where parents would see them.